

THE CLARKE PAPERS.

His Highness Hoo. Hoo. Hoo.
 Protector of Lubberland, and chief Captain of the night Guards.

I am resolv'd to ride in State,
 Not caring what the small Birds prate,
 To keep my Senn without control,
 If once I hear they'll call me Owle.

London Printed by Tho Leach, at the sign of the golden Faulcon in Shoe-lane.

A CARICATURE OF THE PROTECTOR RICHARD CROMWELL:

From the Clarke Collection.

THE CLARKE PAPERS.

SELECTIONS FROM THE PAPERS OF WILLIAM CLARKE

*Secretary to the Council of the Army, 1647-1649, and to General
Monck and the Commanders of the Army in Scotland, 1651-1660.*

EDITED FOR THE ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

BY

C. H. FIRTH, M.A.

VOLUME III.

LONGMANS, GREEN, AND CO.

89 PATERNOSTER ROW, LONDON

NEW YORK AND BOMBAY

1899